INTRODUCTION

This is the Privacy Policy for Automotive Lending Solutions New Zealand Pty Ltd trading as Fiat Professional Services (FPFS, we, us, our).

FPFS respects your privacy and is committed to compliance with the Privacy Act 2020. In this policy, personal information means information about an identifiable individual. This privacy policy tells you what personal information of yours we collect, how we hold it, what we do with it, who we will disclose it to and how you can access your personal information. This policy also tells you how you can change inaccurate personal information and how to opt out of receiving communications from us.

What personal information about you do we collect and hold?

We may collect and hold the following information about you, including but not limited to:

- your name, address, email, telephone number, date of birth and other information about you such as age and gender;
- credit related information when you apply for credit from us or we get a credit report about you;
- details about your vehicle purchase and servicing such as purchase date, purchase details, vehicle registration, and name of selling dealer;
- information you give us, such as when you contact our customer service centre, and login to or access our website;
- from marketing campaigns, product surveys, and research, when you access and use our social media platforms and any publicly available information;
- any other personal information we have to collect to identify you;
- details in identity documents given to us, such as your passport number and driver's licence number; and
- payment details including bank account, credit card details and other payment information if you buy our products and services.

How do we collect and store your personal information?

Usually we collect personal information about you from you and from our dealers who have received information from you.

We may collect personal information about you:

- when you contact us by email, phone, in person, by SMS or other forms of communication, including our website or our social media platforms;

- when you take part in promotions, competitions, customer surveys, and sponsorships;
- when you apply for credit;
- when you contact us about any of our products and services; or
- from related companies, dealers and our service providers.

We may also collect personal information about you from other people such as:

- your accountant or employer, when required, as part of your credit assessment;
- any personal referee provided by you;
- any credit provider that gave credit to you, to assess your credit application;
- any credit reporting body that gives us a credit report about you;
- your insurer or broker;
- our agents;
- any government authorities;
- marketing agencies and marketing lists; and
- other people you refer to us or who refer us to you.

If you give us personal information about another person, please tell them you have given it to us and tell them about this policy.

We keep records of privacy consents that we get from you.

We have put in place industry standard (or better) security safeguards to protect your personal information from loss, unauthorised access, use modification and disclosure and other misuse. We store your personal information in secure electronic and physical files.

If your personal information is subject to a notifiable privacy breach as defined in the Privacy Act 2020, we will notify you and the Privacy Commissioner in accordance with our obligations under the Act.

What do we do with your personal information?

We collect, hold, use and disclose your personal information (except credit information) for:

- answering your inquiries or comments;
- customer service and product development;
- assessing your application for a product or service;
- developing, administering and managing our services and businesses;
- promotions and marketing including direct marketing;
- research to improve our websites, products or services;
- any other customer support purposes;
- dealing with complaints;

- any other purpose you agree to;
- our legal obligations, assisting government and enforcement bodies or regulators, or where otherwise required or authorised by law, or an order of a court or tribunal.

JFS will only collect, store use and disclose your credit information for:

- assessing your application for credit, additional credit or to renew credit;
- purposes directly related to the internal management of your loan or the provision of credit;
- in accordance with the consents and authorities you give us in your credit application.

Who do we disclose your personal information to?

We may disclose personal information about you:

- to a credit reporting body, to get a credit report about you and/or to allow the credit reporting body to maintain a credit information file containing information about you;
- to a debt collection agency;
- with your consent, to other credit providers for the purpose of assessing your application for credit; or
- with your consent, to guarantors or proposed guarantors if a credit arrangement is or will be guaranteed.
- to our agents or contractors. These include businesses we use such as mailing houses, insurers, printers, information technology service providers, lawyers, accountants, debt collection agencies, and other service providers;
- to our dealers, but only if they use it for the same purposes as set out above and only in connection with the dealership franchise;
- anyone else that you agree may get the information from us;
- any disclosure which is required or authorised by law, including in respect of any suspicious or threshold transactions or activities; and
- to identity verification vendors who use your government identifiers (for example your driver's licence number or passport number) to verify your identity for us;

If you have applied for credit, we may disclose your credit information:

Your personal information may be given to our parent company in Japan, our related companies and our service providers that are located or hold data elsewhere in the world, including Japan, Australia, United Kingdom, Mexico, Thailand and United States of America. We will only disclose your personal information to an overseas recipient if we have taken reasonable steps to ensure that overseas recipient will treat your personal information in a way that is consistent with the Privacy Act 2020 and our instructions or where we reasonably believe the recipient is subject to laws that protect your personal information in the same or substantially the same way as Privacy Act 2020.
